Summary:

IT department has organized a Guest Lecture On "Startup and Entrepreneurship" for TE IT students. The Entrepreneurship and Startup Program was organized to offer students practical lessons in business start-up and management and to make them aware of the strategies to build ecosystems, & create a business model canvas. Nearly 66 students attended the lecture. They learned the way of pitching ideas before investors for funding their business. Speaker familiarized students with various concepts used in understanding processes involved in entrepreneurship and business formation and development.

Objective:

- To make the students aware about the latest trends in Information Technology
- To make the students understand the Entrepreneurship opportunities in the IT sector.
- To provide a forum for students to interact with subject experts.
- To provide conceptual knowledge, corporate experience and entrepreneurial attitude through intensive sessions

Expert Speaker: Mr. Ganesh Thorat

Founder & CEO

Cerebrospark Innovation,

Session Details:

- A person who undertakes the risk of starting a new business venture is called an entrepreneur.
- An entrepreneur creates a firm to realize their idea, known as entrepreneurship, which aggregates capital and labor in order to produce goods or services for profit.
- Entrepreneurship is highly risky but also can be highly rewarding, as it serves to generate economic wealth, growth, and innovation.
- Ensuring funding is key for entrepreneurs: Financing resources include SBA loans and crowdfunding.
- The way entrepreneurs file and pay taxes will depend on how the business is set up in terms of structure.
- What is a start-up?

  There are many different start-ups, and many of them are indeed entrepreneurs. The objective of the startups however, set them apart from the entrepreneurs. They try to create something new and often give a business like strategic shape to something that apparently does not seem to be an ideal idea for a business.

- Some fundamental differences

  A significant difference between entrepreneur and startup comes with closing the loop. Business is not viable unless the loop of creating a value item, producing and delivering it to the target customers and getting paid for the entire project is completed and closed.

  For the entrepreneurs completing and closing this loop is necessary and essential for ensuring ultimate profit but startups are not always very much bothered with it. Which is a reason why many start-ups incur a huge amount of debts as well, and that leads to major trouble with the financial front? Often this can also lead to bankruptcy.

  One major drawback of being a start-up owner is the risk and pressure associated with the entire project.

- Business debt

  One of the significant risks that any business faces is the business debts and how to pay them off. The startups are majorly at risk since they are not always able to finance the business on their own and take loans and if they do not have enough profit, paying off the loans become difficult.
