e : Awareness session on IEEE(Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers)

Objective of Session :

- Introduce participants to IEEE, its mission, and its global impact.
- Highlight the benefits of IEEE membership, including access to resources, networking opportunities, and professional development.
- Encourage participants to engage in IEEE activities, including conferences, publications, and technical societies.

Description :

An awareness session on IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) was conducted on 14th August 2024 at department of Information Technology. The session aimed to educate participants about IEEE, its role in advancing technology, membership benefits, opportunities for professional development, and involvement in various IEEE activities. Awareness session was conducted by Dr.C.A.Manjare

About the Speaker :

- M.E.(Electronics)
- Ph. D. (Electronics)
- Teaching Experience: 25 Yrs.
- Professional Membership and Contributions: IEEE and ISTE

The Awareness session is arranged for SE and TE IT students. Total 120 students have attended the Awareness session

Speaker explained following points

- Introduction to IEEE: The session began with an introduction to IEEE, its history, and its global presence. Participants were informed about IEEE's mission to foster technological innovation and excellence for the benefit of humanity.
- Membership Benefits: The session highlighted the benefits of IEEE membership, such as access to IEEE Explore (a digital library of journals, conferences, and standards), discounts on conferences and events, networking opportunities with professionals worldwide, and career development resources.
- IEEE Societies and Technical Communities: An overview of the various IEEE societies and technical communities was provided. Participants learned about the different fields of interest covered by IEEE, including but not limited to robotics, communications, computer science, and power engineering.

- Opportunities for Involvement: Participants were encouraged to get involved in IEEE activities, such as joining local IEEE chapters, participating in student branches, attending IEEE conferences, and contributing to IEEE publications.
- Pathways to Membership: The process of becoming an IEEE member was explained, including the different membership grades (Student, Graduate Student, Professional, Senior Member, and Fellow) and their respective requirements.

Prof. S.A.Bagul is faculty coordinator for Induction Program feedback is taken from all the students.

Glimpses of the session

Outcomes:

- Increased Awareness: The session successfully raised awareness about IEEE, its mission, and its role in advancing technology and innovation. Participants gained a comprehensive understanding of the benefits of IEEE membership and how it can aid their professional development.
- Enhanced Engagement: Many participants showed interest in getting involved in IEEE activities, such as joining local chapters, contributing to technical societies, and attending upcoming IEEE conferences and workshops.
